

BCVI Grand Rounds

Peripheral Arterial Disease as the Central Cardiovascular Public Health Mandate - The Rationale to Translate Vascular Health Service Research Into Practice

SPEAKER

Alan T. Hirsch, M.D.

Professor of Epidemiology and Community Health
University of Minnesota School of Public Health
Minneapolis, Minnesota

TARGET AUDIENCE

Interventional Cardiologists, Interventional Radiologists, Cardiologists,
Cardiovascular Surgeons, General Internists, Emergency Medicine Physicians,
Primary Care Physicians, Hospitalists, Radiology Technologists, Nurses, Pharmacists,
Respiratory Therapists and all other interested healthcare providers.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this conference, participants should be better able to:

- Discuss the current health disparities that serve as major barriers to more effective Peripheral Arterial Disease (PAD) care.
- Review the efficacy and health economic costs associated with current PAD standards of care.
- Examine new treatments for acute limb ischemia (ALI) and critical limb ischemia (CLI) as the tip of the spear of a new standard of vascular care.
- Examine a model of care in which clinicians and health systems can create an effective and scalable CLI pathway.
- Implement a plan that includes appropriate screening, identification and management of PAD.
